Software Developer / Web Developer (m/f) wanted

We are a small web development startup from Darmstadt and create realizations if our own creative product ideas. For the creation of our newest project we are currently looking for supporting staff (working students welcome!) to help us develop our software for the web (Front & Backend)

Wir are looking for enthusiastic and uncomplicated programmers who are not afraid of working on a brand new product, don't mind trying out new technologies and are happy to work in a small & agile team.

Ideally candidates already have some kind of knowledge about some of the following technologies: javascript, jQuery, node.js, mongoDB, database technologies in general, frontend development in general (HTML5 & CSS3), android native, iOS native, windows phone native, platform independent development for mobile devices, JSON/REST webservices.

We offer a casual and dynamic team, exciting products, flexible working hours and a result-oriented & pleasant working atmosphere.

If we have sparked your interest, feel free to drop a short informal Email including your CV to jobs@gfnork.de.
For further information, please contact Mr. Qiong Wu, tel.: +49 171 213 9055, email: qiong.wu@gfnork.de.
An overview of our previous projects can be found at http://www.gfnork.de/
